

Announcement of new establishment of Immunological Monitoring Service Department

OncoTherapy Science, Inc. (hereinafter, “OncoTherapy”) announces the new establishment of the Immunological Monitoring Service Department.

1. Background and Object

OncoTherapy has been constructing the immunological monitoring system for objective evaluation of the efficacy of cancer immunotherapy with accumulation of know-how and acquisition of ISO certification (ISO9001:2008) and working on its standardization, an important challenge in this field, in addition to conducting the clinical developments.

Following “Announcement of agreement on collaborative development of automated-Specific Immuno-monitoring System for cancer immunotherapy” with Panasonic Healthcare Co., Ltd. on July 17, 2013, OncoTherapy will newly establish an independent department for immunological monitoring to expand the contract services.

2. Establishment of the Immunological Monitoring Service Department

OncoTherapy will spin off the immunological monitoring service unit from the Research and Development department into an independent department which is equivalent to the two principal departments of OncoTherapy Research and Development department and the Clinical Development department.

3. The establishment date

August 1, 2013
